1951 Home Construction Highest In Town History

The year just closed was Andover's banner building year.

Following so closely upon the previous record-breaking year of 1950 it emphasizes the great building boom the town is experiencing while at the same time adding new taxable property to the community.

This growth has been increasing since 1948 and despite rising costs and curtailment of some metals used in home building, is still on the upward trend. Today there are 28 homes here under rough construction, that is between the foundation and being closed in. This is more than at any month during the summer.

According to records of Building Inspector Ralph W. Coleman the permits issued for new dwellings in 1950 topped 1951, the former totalling 130 and the latter 127, but the valuation of new buildings was greater last year. The totals are $2,982,276 for 1951, and $2,676,650 for 1950. The sum for last year includes the two new school buildings, while that of 1950 included the Phillips academy gymnasium, both being over a million dollars. As the 27 new homes to be built in Shawsheen have not been started, the estimated cost of these new dwellings will be included in the 1952 totals.

The total number of permits taken for new dwellings since 1941 follow: 1941, 76; 1942, 6; 1943, 1; 1944, 1; 1945, 7; 1946, 54; 1947, 70; 1948, 108; 1949, 80 plus the 56 units in the veterans' housing project; 1950, 130; 1951, 127.

From the above figures it will be seen that since the lean war years the building of new dwellings here has been on the increase.

Visiting Nurse Campaign Has Goal Set For $8500

A goal of $8500 has been set in the forthcoming campaign to raise funds for the Visiting Nurse Association of Andover Inc., which will get under way shortly.

A large committee has been formed to facilitate the work of canvassing the town which will be done during the period of Jan. 21 to 31.

The officers of the association are: Irving J. Whitcomb, president; Mrs. Frederick Butler and John N. Cole 2nd, vice presidents; Eugene A. Bernardin Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Robert D. Mayo, clerk.

They are being assisted in this campaign by a large number of volunteer workers under the direction of Robert F. MacMackin, chairman of the 1952 campaign.

Mrs. Roland H. Sherman is chairman of the special gifts committee; Philip K. Allen, chairman of the organizations; John H. Grecoe, chairman of the merchants committee. They will launch their special drives Jan. 14.

Precinct majors are: 1, Mrs. Nathaniel Stowers; 2, Will G. Brown; 3, Andrew Baillie; 4, Mrs. Ernest Gaunt; 5, Randolph Perry; 6, George K. Sanborn. William A. Doherty and Irving E. Rogers Jr., are publicity chairman.

Officers and directors of the organization, recalling the excellent service given by the nurse, Miss Helen M. Woodbury, through the association, are confident that the drive will meet with the wholehearted support of the people of Andover.

Since the association took over sponsorship of the visiting nurse in July, 1950, she has made more than 2150 visits, as many as 156 in one month, supplementing the work of doctors in various types of services. She has traveled thousands of miles in all kinds of weather helping those in need of medical attention and has earned the praise of town officials, local physicians and hospitals.

Watch the "Progress Gauge" in front of the town house. Your contributions will keep it moving toward the desired goal.

PTA Groups Aid In Polio Campaign

Added impetus was given the infantile paralysis drive here with the announcement that the Central PTA would take over the "Mothers March on Polio" campaign. This group will be headed by Mrs. Vincent Treanor.

Philip L. Hardy Erected Flag Pole At Town House

The late Philip L. Hardy, who died Dec. 31 in Apponaug, R. I., was honored when the flag, which unfurls over the Andover Town hall was flown at half mast.

The honor was the more unusual because Philip Hardy erected that very flag pole 15 years ago.

The honor was bestowed upon the late Mr. Hardy because he had served as a member and chairman of the board of public works.

He was born in Andover Dec. 26, 1890, and lived in this town until 1941 when he left to assume a position in Quonset, R. I. After World War II he established residence in East Greenwich, where he engaged in the contracting business. He was a graduate of Lowell Textile Institute. He was one of five children born to the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hardy, who were natives of Andover. His father was a private contractor in Andover and had served as chief of the fire department for 25 years. He started his fire chief's duties at $50 a year and in 25 years rose to the yearly wage of $200.

On Aug. 4, 1936, lightning demolished the old flag pole which had towered above the Andover town hall for many years. Shortly afterwards, Philip Hardy was engaged to erect the new flag pole.

It was more than ordinarily fitting that the pole which honored him in death by setting to the breeze the flag which he loved so well was ordained to be the one which he erected.

The Citizen's Responsibility

Appalling revelations of corruption throughout all levels of the United States government have left the American citizenry disgusted, disillusioned but not despaired.

The breach in trust by men elected and appointed to places of public position has been more than a strain on their personal honor. It has been a blight on America and the people who comprise it. Regretfully, it has dimmed the long-heralded achievements of the early founders.

Initially, the fault lies with these wrong-doers, who have so far strayed from the long established code of American righteousness that their present actions make mockery of the pioneer statesmen.

Essentially, the blame must be assumed by the American people, who have countenanced and permitted such disgraceful conduct by their elected and named leaders. John Citizen's acquiescence to graft, corruption and soiled politics has constituted the silent nod which unprincipled public servants interpreted as the green light.

Let us rise to the occasion. The house of government must be restored to its one-time pristine status, regardless of whose heads fall in the housecleaning or what party labels dip into the muck and the mire.

Good government is the American citizens responsibility. It is his sacred trust to preserve, guard and pass on to his children. Not by casting winks or approval can corruption be rooted from our high political offices. A healthy boot is the answer. The time to use a swift kick has long been overdue.

NEW BOOKS

Turn West, Turn East, Canby.

Henry Seidel Canby has written an interesting parallel biography of Mark Twain and Henry James and a critical evaluation of their work. Both men sought answers to the question of what makes American personality; one found his subjects in the independent west; the other in the east, enriched with old world culture.

Rufus Jones Speaks To Our Time; an anthology edited by Harry E. Fosdick.

Rufus Jones wrote more than fifty books from which extracts have been taken by Harry Emerson Fosdick, who has been greatly influenced by the great Quaker's life and writings. This book will keep alive some of the choice thoughts which are no longer available in book form.

Gods, Graves, And Scholars, Ceram.

A dramatic summary of the great archaeologists and their romantic explorations and discoveries, not from the scientific point of view alone, but in exciting story-like form.

The Near East And The Great Powers, Frye.

In American usage, "near east" and "middle east" are synonymous, especially since World War II. In this work, the author has used the word "near" since he is not concerned with Iran or Turkey. He concentrates on the Arab world and Israel. Ralph Bunch, director of the Dept. of Trusteeship of the United Nations has written the introduction. This should be everybody's book.

Ross And The New Yorker, Kramer.

Here is the inside story of the New Yorker, America's most sophisticated periodical, and all the information available about the man who made it. Here we find well-known characters walking through the pages — Ogden Nash, Peter Arno, Helen Hokinson, Charles Addams, Thurber, etc. Good reading.

Man Of The Family, Moody.

In Littleton, Colorado, about 1910, Ralph Moody tried to hold together the fatherless family of which he was a part, and before his teens began to earn money. This carried on the story of Little Britches — good fun, good sense.

The Best Humor Of 1951.

Short stories by well-known and little-known writers. Some are taken from current newspapers and magazines, some are chapters from popular books.

Watch Out For The Weather, Berke.

No matter what comes up, there is some good basis for blaming on the weather after reading this interesting and not too scientific book on the effect of weather on human beings.

The Better Half Of Your Life, Lorrigo.

For the person approaching the middle years, this addition to the material already in print on the ways to meet and make the best of old age will fill some of the gaps and clarify many points.

Other good non-fiction books:

I'm A Lucky Guy, Gilbreth; Fifty Years With The Golden Rule, Penney; The Uprooted, Handlin; Teaching Through The Elementary School Library, Walraven; Violets For Garden And Market, Zambra; Good Taste Costs No More, Gumpert; The Face Of The Earth, Tomlinson; Alone He Went, Richardson; The Magic Curtain, Langner; Wasa Wasa, Macfie; Venture To The Interior, Post; Singing In The Morning, Hough; Forrestal Diaries; Bradford Of Plymouth, Smith.

A few for the fiction readers: The Duke's Daughter, Thirkell; Point Venus, McConnaughey; Wait For The Wagon, Lasswell; The Fortune Tellers, Fleming; Sudden Glory, Sumner; Shoulder The Sky, Stevenson; The Serpent-Wreathed Staff, Hobart; The Grass Harp, Capote; The Renegade, Graham.

Olympic Hockey Team Here Jan. 13

The United States Olympic hockey team comes to Andover Sunday, Jan. 13 just one week prior to departure for the Olympic games in Oslo. Short on cash to finance the trip, the Olympic team is playing a series of games against college teams in an effort to raise the needed funds. Opposing the Olympic team at the Sumner Smith rink at Phillips academy at 2:30 p.m. Sunday will be Herb Gallagher's Northeastern sextet. The proceeds from the game are being donated to the Olympic team for its trip. Tickets will be on sale at the Borden gymnasium, Phillips academy daily from 9 - 12 and 1 - 4 commencing Wednesday, Jan. 9, and will also be available at some stores in Andover.

The fifteen man Olympic squad is truly national in character. Ten days of tryouts were held before the final selections, three of these tryout sessions taking place on the Andover rink. Massachusetts and Minnesota divide the honors with 7 players each while Rhode Island provides one. Forwards Cliff Harrison, Arnie Oss and goalie Dick Desmond, all Dartmouth graduates, and Jack Mulhern and Len Ceglarski from Boston college are well known local stars.

The armed forces are also cooperating to a large degree, for the roster includes three marines, one air force cadet, and one private in the army.

Ticket receipts are being considered an Olympic fund donation and there will be no refunds should weather force a cancellation.

X-Ray Survey Feb. 25-Mar. 7

A Dutch-treat luncheon was held at the Andover Inn, Jan. 2, for the committee chairmen of the Andover X-ray survey, of which Francis J. Rodericks is general chairman. Plans were made to conduct the survey during the two week period from Feb. 25 to Mar. 7.

A house to house canvass started Monday which was carried on by volunteers under the leadership of Mrs. Elbert C. Weaver. Andover residents were enrolled for their free X-rays and at the same time indicated a convenient time for each individual to have his free X-ray taken. Each person enrolled will receive an appointment card giving the date time and place of the X-ray.

The Andover town hall and the Ballardvale fire station will serve as locations for the general public. Locations in the Junior high on Bartlet st. for grades 9 through 12 and Abbot academy are being arranged. Industrial locations are being arranged for employees of the Marland mills, Tyer Rubber company, and the Shawsheen mill. There is a possibility that employees of other industries in Andover may be X-rayed at one of these three plants.

Four health agencies namely, The Massachusetts department of public health, the Essex County health association, the Andover board of health and the Andover Christmas seal committee, are sponsoring the survey.

The purpose of the X-ray survey is to find all unknown cases of tuberculosis in Andover and Ballardvale.

Those present at the luncheon were Francis J. Rodericks, Mrs. Elbert C. Weaver, canvassing chairman; Mrs. Alden S. Cook, clinic chairman; Walter Brewer, industrial chairman; William A. Doherty, publicity chairman; Miss Ruth E. Wescott, R. N., school nurse; and Miss Mary C. Dinsmore, executive director, and Mrs. Marian B. Carpenter, health education director, respectively, of the Essex County Health association.

SCHOOLS TO HOLD CONFERENCE HERE

one school cannot afford the research teaching.

Fees for the rental of school auditoriums, gymnasiums and rooms were increased and a scale established.

Discussing transportation of pupils in Shawsheen, Supt. Kenneth L. Sherman said some are obliged to walk more than a mile four times a day for morning and afternoon sessions, and while the state requires transportation of those walking one and one-half miles or more, some just come under that limit. He also mentioned that the increased building construction in Shawsheen and the prospective number of new pupils may make an addition to the school necessary.

Whether single sessions would relieve the transportation problem was discussed but no action was taken.
